Introduction

The Baxter Treatises, catalogued by Roger Thomas, are of great historical importance. They consist of all the Richard Baxter papers at Dr. William's Library except the letters. A lot of the material belongs to the latter half of Baxter's life. It includes:

- Baxter's Paraphrase of the New Testament, 1685; the defence at his trial and continuing papers
- The "Catholic Communion" controversy
- Papers relating to the Oxford oath
- Baxter's Aphorisms of justification, 1649
- His dialogues with George Lawson
- His conference with William Penn in 1675
- Enquiries into the Book of Revelation

Also included are selected items subsequent to Baxter's death as well as personal and miscellaneous papers.

The contents list is based on Roger Thomas' catalogue.
